Halligator forcing tool

Description

The Halligator one-piece forcing and penetration tool is forged in a single piece from ultra-high-strength alloy steel.

The ends are heat-treated for maximum strength and wear resistance.

The pick, flat and crowbar are designed to make the most of the user's strength, and the width of the flats and size of the points are designed to facilitate penetration.

Two eyelets built into the Halligator allow the tool to be slung over the shoulder using a suitable or customised strap.

Electrostatically powder-coated raw steel finish for excellent corrosion resistance.

The Halligator can be used with the US Firehead axe.
