STRATO PETZL helmet for work and rescue

Description

The STRATO helmet is comfortable to wear and fits securely on the head. It's a helmet for both rescue and work at height.
The closed outer shell protects against electrical hazards, molten metal splashes and flames.
Optimal integration of a Petzl headlamp, protective visor, hearing protection and multiple accessories make this a fully modular helmet, meeting the needs of professionals.

The system retracts inside the helmet for easy storage and transport,

The clip has two positions for two modes of use: high resistance, to limit the risk of losing the helmet in a fall, and low resistance, to limit the risk of strangulation if the helmet is caught when the user is on the ground. Shock absorption is achieved by deformation of the inner shell,

Supplied with interchangeable comfort foam pads.
