The anti-panic insurer with cam-assisted locking system

Description

The benchmark belay system for activities and interventions at height: Petzl's Grigri belay device, a must-have! Compact and ergonomic, it excels at lead climbing and top-roping. In particular, it enables you to descend smoothly and safely in the event of a fall. Ideal for use on routes and in climbing gyms. Cam-assisted locking (mechanical clamp): - Accompaniment of the rope in the belay device - Cam swivels and pinches the rope in the event of a fall. - Anti-panic device that locks the rope as soon as it passes through the belay device too quickly. - High tolerance of hand position on the braking side Comfortable descent: - Control of descent speed with progressive control of rope travel - Ergonomic handle for a comfortable grip - Handle multiplied by 3 (improved control when sliding the rope on thin diameters and reduced effort required on the handle for larger diameters). A belayer for everyone - Lightweight and compact, ideal for beginners and professionals alike - Compatible with single ropes from 8.5 to 11 mm - Simplifies belay maneuvers indoors and outdoors Combining innovation, safety and comfort, Petzl's Grigri belay device is available in three colors.
