Description

Canyoning, a water sport in the great outdoors, is practiced in currents of varying strength. Between jumps, swimming and descents, safety is essential to get the most out of the activity. PETZL's PIRANA CLUB descender with adjustable braking is particularly well suited to first-time canyoning trips and group use.

- Three types of installation for the rope, so you can choose a particular degree of braking before descending.
- A simple format for easy explanations and pre-descent checks
- Easy installation of the rope thanks to a plastic ring to keep the connector in the right position.

The PETZL PIRANA CLUB descender is available in black and green. It is compatible with ropes between 8 and 13 mm.
