Lightweight PETZL GRADISTEP stirrup with five steps. Practical equipment for artificial passages on free routes. Includes a storage bag for clipping to the harness.

Description

A support for artificial climbing on free routes? The PETZL GRADISTEP stirrup is a compact, lightweight piece of equipment that's easy to carry in your rucksack. This practical, flexible five-step ladder makes climbing easier. In particular, it helps you get through difficult passages.

The stirrup is fitted with a STRING to hold the carabiner in position while protecting the strap from abrasion. It comes with a storage bag that attaches to the harness.
