Fire swatter with angled 9 blades and wood handle

Description

The 9-blade curved fire beat is an essential tool for fighting brush fires, forest fires, controlled burning and grassland fires.

Designed for rapid intervention in natural environments, it effectively smothers emerging flames and helps prevent fire spread on the ground. Particularly suitable for teams from the French Departmental Fire and Rescue Services, Civil Security units and field intervention teams, this professional fire beat combines strength, maneuverability and operational efficiency.

Its curved head fitted with 9 polished blades provides an excellent striking and smothering surface. The blades help press flames onto the ground while limiting ember projection, improving operator safety. The 140 cm wooden handle ensures a safe working distance from the fire while allowing precise movement control.
